

American Dream? 2008

Many people believe in the American Dream which is based on the idea that anything is possible if you work hard and that economic mobility is part of the American way. Right now the dreams of many Americans are being crushed in part because they bought a house.

Create a multimedia presentation entitled The Reality of the Dream which explores the dreams of yourself and others. Create a document that includes your reality and dreams and what you will need to do to reach those goals. Present on April 17th.
